Dear Stan:

Now that I am aware of what extremely able staff support you have, I am convinced that both you and the nation can afford your being away from the office for at least part of a football weekend.

Mildred and I would be delighted to have you and Pat visit us, as you did a few years ago. I suggest the Navy game, October 27, in the hope that the dignity of your office will somewhat mitigate the volume of your oral enthusiasm. I have in mind asking Max Ulrich and his wife for the same occasion.

The activities will entail a Friday evening dinner (in honor of the Superintendent and his staff who arrive that afternoon), and on Saturday beginning at 11 a.m. a brunch, the game, and a postgame reception. We shall be glad to look after any staff who would accompany you.

If there is a possibility of this (or you would prefer some other weekend), please have someone give my offica a call.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Wes,

Please excuse my delay in responding to your kind invitation to join Mildred and you the weekend of October 26th.

Having taken stock of the world energy situation, the Cuban situation, the Mideast situation, the Iranian situation, the Indian Ocean situation, and the African situation, I am moved to accept most readily.

However, my review of Pittsburgh's standing in the latest AP/UPI poll raises doubts in my mind as to the propriety of my serving as witness to the demise of one football power to the profit of another. (Note that my skirmishes on the Hill have sharpened my adroitness in postulating the vague with clarity.)

Seriously, I tentatively plan to be in Pittsburgh on Friday, October 26th, for business. If my schedule holds up, Pat and I would be delighted to be part of the festivities on Friday evening and the game on Saturday. I'll be in touch with your office about two weeks before to confirm.

Yours,

STANSFIELD TURNER
